SOLUTION OF MYSTERY OF MISSING STEERS

Explorer Adams Finds a Yaqui Village Where Meat Is Cheap.

Deputy Sheriff Adams returned yesterday from an all night and part of the day trip laden with trophies of the chase, consisting of two Yaquis and one steer skin. The night before a telephone message was received at the sheriff's office from Tempe saying that somebody had been killing cattle west of the town. A large number of beef cattle belonging to different owners had been kept in a pasture in which there was a large haystack. For some time cattle had been mysteriously disappearing from the pasture, leaving no trace. It was supposed that they had been stolen, but curiously no track were ever found leading away from the pasture.

But this time there was something about the disappearance of the steer that attracted attention and an investigation brought out the head and entrails of an animal. The message was then sent to the sheriff and Mr. Adams took the night train for Tempe. Instead of looking for steer or horse tracks he began looking for wagon tracks and yesterday morning found some that suited his fastidious notion. He followed the marks of the wheel until they led him into a Yaqui village. He made a house to house search of it and found a lot of fresh meat and a little later the skin of a steer. He was not long in connecting a couple of Yaquis with the presence of the meat and skin.

That particular Yaqui village for weeks had been making faces at the beef trust. There was no demand in that part of the tribe for a revision of the tariff and no curiosity was expressed regarding the high cost of living.

TWO HANDSOME COSTUMES.

A gown of white net embroidered in crystal and gold made over a silk, with a touch of black velvet at the waist line and a gown of bright blue net embroidered in gun metal, edged with skunk fur and finished with a globe of gunmetal, made over a pale rose silk—were two beautiful costumes seen at a fashionable function recently.

BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN AT TEMPE

First Game in Interscholastic Athletic Association for Republican Cup.

When the team from the Indian school crosses bats with the nine of the Tempe normal this afternoon on the normal grounds, the 1910-1911 season of the interscholastic athletic association will be launched. This will be the first game between teams of the association for the trophy cup offered by The Republican and promises to be warmly contested.

According to the schedule arranged some weeks ago, there were to have been two games on the opening day, but the team of the Phoenix high school for some reason or other does not consider itself in shape to go into the contest at this time and consequently today's game with the Tempe high school has been postponed and may possibly be cancelled. In the event of the cancellation of this game it is said that Tempe will claim the game forfeited to them.

In the game of today there is bound to be a pretty exhibition of baseball. Both teams are trained to the minute and have made some excellent showings against the teams with which they have played in practice. The Indians are particularly strong this year, some of the best material ever appearing on that institution's team having become identified with the nine.

The Republican cup, which was recently purchased through Hilderbrand & Co., will be on exhibition in the windows of that store and is certainly a beauty. This cup is offered as a trophy for the team scoring three yearly victories, and any team scoring a single year's victory is entitled to hold the cup until it is taken from it by the winning of another year's victory by another team. Three wins entitles the team making that record to permanent possession of a fine cup.

WISE PHOENICIANS ARE SHOPPING EARLY

The Work of Years at Last Bearing Fruit in This City.

Phoenicians have evidently taken the advice to "do your Christmas shopping early" to heart. All the merchants of the city say that so far the holiday trade has been much heavier than is usual at the beginning of the season. It is so much heavier that it can be only partially accounted for by the increased population and prosperity of the city. Some of it is undoubtedly due to early shopping and the eleventh hour rush will not be nearly so great as formerly.

For years the early Christmas shopping idea has been urged upon the public, through newspapers, in advertisements of stores and in every way possible. And there is evidence that the ceaseless campaign is bringing results, at least in Phoenix.

Everybody is a Christmas shopper these days. It makes no difference if he has no more than fifteen cents in his pocket; he is thinking of buying a Christmas present for someone. It may be for father, mother, sister, brother, cousin, aunt, uncle, some other relative, sweetheart or more friend. The Christmas gift custom shows no sign of waning, despite the ridicule of newspaper paragraphers and other funny men.

To watch Christmas shoppers in some big store is a pastime that never flags in interest. One knows right away the parents of a family who have slipped away to buy gifts for the children. The father is inclined to hurry through the task, buying something for Jennie, any old thing for Johnny and something else for baby. But mother is more particular. She has a better idea of what the children want and she intends that they shall have it, provided it doesn't cut too far into the family bank account.

Then, after father and mother finally get through, they go away. And sometime within the next day or two they come back—separately—to buy presents for each other.

There's many a young man wondering what in the—well, what under the sun he'll buy his sweetheart for Christmas. Young men as a rule don't hang around stores much and hunt through the stock for what they want. They'll look at the windows but they won't go inside until they know just what they want. Then they buy it and get it as rapidly as possible.

Such young men can be divided into two classes. There is the fellow who is so bashful about it that he'll go to some store where he is sure he isn't known. Others prefer to go to some close friend in a store, whisper what is wanted, have it wrapped up in many thicknesses of paper and sent to his address.

But the girls who buy gifts for their sweethearts don't know what they want when they go into a store to do their Christmas shopping. They'll look at everything in the ladies' department, wandering aimlessly about half an hour or more before gathering courage enough to slip over where gents' furnishing goods and the like are sold. One will take the clerk into her confidence, asking his opinion as to what a real nice young man would like for Christmas, while the next will brazenly declare that she wants something for her brother. But she will be mighty particular in buying that gift, considering that it is for a member of the family. It is really surprising how many girls who never had a brother are buying Christmas presents for brothers these days.

The fashion in gifts—well, it hasn't changed. Toilet sets are still a big favorite for the ladies while handkerchiefs and neckties are in greater demand than ever. It is noticeable that more clothes are being bought as presents.

Where to Buy Nationally Advertised Goods in Phoenix

THIS PAGE is for the information of those who prefer to buy advertised goods, knowing them invariably to be the best. It is a list showing which stores in Phoenix carry the articles nationally advertised in the newspapers, magazines, trade publications, street cars, billboards, etc. Articles that the manufacturer himself knows to be so good that he invests his reputation and thousands—and in many instances hundreds of thousands—of dollars to tell you about. This page will appear twice a week hereafter. It would be wise, however, to clip it for reference. When you read the magazines compare this list, and note the large number of nationally advertised articles, manufactured in all parts of the world, that can be bought right here in this modern, progressive city of ours. It is well worth while.
